Don't you hate it when the journal articles you need aren't available electronically?

Announcing University Library's Article Delivery Service

University Library (UL) ARTICLE DELIVERY SERVICE

What is the UL Article Delivery Service?

The UL Article Delivery Service is a new service being offered by University Library's Interlibrary Services department. In addition to ordering articles not available on campus, you can now request articles from within University Library's print collection.

Who can use the UL Article Delivery Service?

All IUPUI affiliates (Faculty, Staff, Graduate Students, Undergraduate Students) whose school/department or unit is served by University Library

What does the service cost?

At this time, there is no charge for this service.

How do I make a request?

Log on to ILLiad at https://ill.ulib.iupui.edu/ILLiad/IUP/logon.html. First-time users will need to complete the user registration screen. Submit a new Article or Book Chapter Request . If you have the call number, please enter it in the Notes field.

How long until I receive the articles?

Requests are usually filled within 3 business days, but times may vary. You will receive an email message notifying you when the article is available for viewing/printing on your ILLiad account.

Questions about this service?

Please contact Interlibrary Services at 274-0470 or email cbaich@iupui.edu.